A SONG.—(ORIGINAL.)
I think not that those cruel snuers,
Which you so often cast at me,
Exciteth grief, and draw no tears,
Though no external marks you see.
What tender spirit can endure—
Contempt, ev'n from our well known foes—
But when from our love, how sure
The heart with bitter grief o'erflows!

I love thee—and those taunting words
Are spoke, though idly, not in vain—
No sooth, that the world affords,
Can ever close their wounds again.

In strife I never will engage,
Though cruel sciss' assault my ears—
Affection smoothes all my rage—
My feelings flow in secret tears.

From the London Court Journal,
LORD NORBURY AND MR. O'CONNELL.

When Sir Robert, then Mr. Peel, was waiting at Castle for the arrival of Mr. O'Connell, with whom he had an affair of honor, the latter, it is said, exhibited no great haste to join him, but spent some days in London, where he vapoured so openly about his intended duel, that it became the duty of the late Sir Richard, then Mr. Birnie, to take notice of it, and he was accordingly apprehended, and consequently bound over to keep the peace. Instead, therefore, of crossing St. George's Channel to court a hostile meeting, he peaceably crossed the Irish Channel to keep the peace in Ireland, where he has certainly done his best to break it ever since. In Dublin it was generally reported and believed, that his apprehension had been wished for, if not planned, by himself, and every body knows that such a circumstance is considered a flagrant crime in the eyes of the fire-eating Irish gentry. A short time afterwards, Mr. O'Connell was arguing a case before Lord Norbury, who, disliking the demagogue, generally shut his eyes, and leaned back in his chair whenever he was speaking. On the present occasion, he appeared to be so soundly asleep, that Mr. O'Connell stooped in the midst of his oration, and said in a stentorian voice, "My Lord—my Lord—I am afraid you do not apprehend my argument?" Open went Lord Norbury's eyes—up rose his rubicund face—"No body so easily apprehended as Mr. O'Connell—when he wishes to be," exclaimed his Lordship, with one of those puffs with which he always accompanied any effort of his wit. The whole court felt the application.

CUORIUS FRACAS BETWEEN THE TORIES GUARD AND TWO ENGLISH SAVAGE, THE PILGRIMS.

Much conversation has arisen in the fashionable world, from the singular and unpleasant adventure of a noble English family, at Rome, during Passion-week. It seems that Lady O., accompanied by her sons and daughters and one or two other persons of distinction, having obtained tickets to view the ceremony of "Washing the Pilgrims' feet," proceeded for that purpose to St. Peter's where some doubts arose in the mind of the soldiers on guard, to whom they applied for permission to pass, respecting the authenticity of their card of admission. Irritated by the delay, the tutor of Viscount F.—, who accompanied the party, proceeded to snatch the disputed tickets from the hand of the sentinel; when a scuffle ensued,—several of the party were knocked down,—and even Lady O. herself severely maltreated. The gentlemen, in fine, were lodged in the Castle of St. Angelo; Lord O., in particular, being committed to a strong dungeon, from which he was, in the course of some days, removed to less severe imprisonment, at the earliest intercession of the ladies of his family, with one of their Eminences, the Cardinals, to whom the family of O.— produced strong letters of recommendation. This extraordinary business has excited a great sensation among the English in Rome. Among those who assisted in the operation of "Washing of the Pilgrims' feet," was no less a personage than Don Miguel.

A gentleman named Coffin was once examined before a Committee of the House of Commons, upon a subject on which he was supposed to be well-informed; but the Committee having questioned him for some time without arriving at the knowledge desired, informed him that he might withdraw. "I wonder," said Sir C.—L.—, "whether that gentleman is any relation to Sir Isaac Coffin?" "No," replied Lord G.—S.—. "I should rather think he was related to the patentee for iron coffins, for we can get nothing out of him."

Hook and Hood.—Do you play upon the piano?" asked a young lady of Hood, the other day. "No, Madam, I only play upon words," said the Comic Anomalist. "Do you, Sir?" said she, addressing the author of "Sayings and Doings." "No, Madam," said Hood, "the piano's not my forte."

IMPORTANT TO MANUFACTURERS.—The subscribers offer for sale or rent for the purpose of establishing the Cotton or Woolen manufacturing business a valuable WATER PRIVILEGE situated in the village of Millville, four miles east of the city of Troy, on the turnpike leading from New York to Boston. Perhaps there is no privilege in this section of country equal to it both on account of the locality and the expense of erection and maintenance. It is situated on one of the most durable streams we have ever possessed the advantage of a rocky bottom and sides, which makes the perfect security from freshets, ice &c.—convenient to market the perfecting machinery—the excavating very little—the power sufficient for all seasons to drive 4000 spindles—having about 12 feet fall—renders it an object for any one about to establish the manufacturing business, to call and view the premises. The subscribers offer to have a cotton or woolen manufactory started in the place, will dispose of the privilege on reasonable terms for that purpose.

Enquire of D. SHELDON, on the premises, or DEFREESTES, VAN ALSTYNE & CO. corner of Fourth and Congress street, Troy, N. Y.

OUR RELATIONS WITH FRANCE.

From the Washington Globe.

The deep solicitude so generally and so naturally felt by all to be correctly advised of the actual state of our relations with France, will be relieved by a perusal of the correspondence which will be found in our column of to-day. The documents speak a language so definite and intelligible, as to leave us no room for useful comments, if we were disposed to offer them. The ground taken by our government is so just as not to admit of any thing like serious diversity of opinion among the American people. Can we be mistaken in supposing, that for once, in a master nearly affecting the interest and honor of the country, we shall present an undivided front to the world?

DEPARTMENT OF STATE, 3

July 1st, 1835.

In consideration of the many important interests connected with the relations between the United States and France, the President has directed the publication of the following documents.

[Mr Livingston to the Due de Broglie.]

LEGATION OF THE UNITED STATES, 3

Paris, April 25th, 1835.

His Excellency,
The Due de Broglie, &c.,
Sir—About to return to my own country, I am unwilling to leave this without adding one more effort to the many I have heretofore made, to restore to both that mutual good understanding, which their best interests require, and which probable events may interrupt, and perhaps permanently destroy.

In the correspondence and acts of His Majesty's Government, since the Message of the President of the United States was known at Paris, it is evident that an idea is entertained of making the fulfillment of the treaty of 1831 dependent on explanations to be given of terms used in the Message, and of withholding payment of an acknowledged debt until satisfaction be given for a supposed indecorum for demanding it. The bare possibility that this opinion might be entertained, and acted upon by His Majesty's Government, renders it incumbent on me to state explicitly what I understand to be the sentiments of the subject.

Unfavorable impressions arising from the want of a proper attention to the structure of our Government, to the duties of its Chief Magistrate, to the principles it has adopted, and its strict adherence to them, in similar cases, might raise expectations which could never be realized, and lead to measures destructive to all harmony between the parties. This communication made in full confidence that it is the wish of His Majesty's Government, as it more sincerely is that of the President, to avoid all measures of that description, and it is hoped, therefore, that it will be received in the spirit by which it is given.

The form of our Government, and the functions of the President as a component part of it, have, in their relation to this subject, been sufficiently explained in my previous correspondence, especially in my letters to the Comte de Rigny of the 29th of January last. I have, therefore, little to add to that part of my representation which is drawn from the form of our government, and the duties of the President in administering it. If these are fully understood, the principles of action derived from them cannot be mistaken.

The President, as the chief executive power, must have a free and uninterrupted communication with the co-ordinate powers of Government. As the President is interested with other nations, he is the only source from which a knowledge of our relations with them can be conveyed to the legislative branches. It results from this, that the utmost freedom from all restraint in the details into which he is obliged to enter, of international concerns, and of the measures in relation to them, is essential to the proper performance of this important part of his functions. He must exercise them without having continually before him the fear of offending the susceptibility of other nations, and of being compelled to notice. In the performance of this duty he is subject to no limitation, and has a sense of propriety for an indiscreet, to his constituents, and for a dangerous, and to his constituents, and for an illegal exercise of the power; but to no other censure, foreign or domestic. Were any foreign powers permitted to scan the communications of the Executive, their complaints, whether real or affected, would involve the country in continual controversies; for, the right being acknowledged, it would be a duty to exercise it by demanding a disavowal of every phrase they might deem offensive, and an explanation of every word to which an interpretation could be given. The principle, therefore, has been established, that the executive power has a right to ask for explanations of any thing that the President, in the exercise of his functions, thinks proper to communicate to Congress, or of any course he may advise them to pursue. This rule is not applicable to the Government of the United States alone, but, in common with it, to all those in which the constitutional powers are distributed into different branches. No such nation, desirous of avoiding foreign influence or foreign interference in its councils, in such nation, possessing a due sense of its dignity and independence, can long submit to the consequences of other interference. When these rules take effect, by which they are surrounded, will have all the advantages of this supervision of the domestic councils of their neighbors, without being subject to it themselves. It is true that the Representative Governments of Europe, Executive communications to Legislative Bodies, have not the extension that is given to them in the United States, and that they are, therefore, less liable to be checked on that quarter, but they must not imagine themselves safe. In the opening address, guarded as it commonly is, every measure is made by the Ministry, every resolution of either Chamber, will afford causes for the jealous interference of national patriotic friends for all occupy the same grounds. No intercommunication of the different branches of Government will be safe, and even the communication which afford no sanctuary for freedom of discussion and of debate, and the susceptibility of foreign Powers, must be consulted in all the departments of Government. Occasions for intervention in the affairs of other countries are too numerous at present not to open another door to complaints; and it is no answer to the argument to say that of this, the nation complained of being the judge, and evil can ensue. But this argument concedes the right of examining the communications in question, which is denied; allow it, and you will have frivolous as well as grave complaints to answer, and not only the wounds of a just national pride, but apply a remedy to those of a morbid susceptibility. To show that my fears of the progressive nature of the encroachments is not imaginary, I have cause to call your Excellency's attention to the enclosed report from the Secretary of State to the President. It is offered as an argument, no for complaint, I am instructed to make none. But the Government of France has taken exception to the President's message, the Charge d'Affaires of France thinks it his duty to protest against a special communication, and to point out the particular passage in a correspondence of an American Minister to the French Government, to the publication of which he objects. If the principle I contest is just, the Charge d'Affaires is right; he has done his duty as a vigilant supervisor of the President's correspondence. If the principle is admitted, every diplomatic agent at Washington will do the same, and we shall have twenty censors of the correspondence of the Government and of the public press. The principle is correct, every communication which the President makes, in relation to our foreign affairs, either to the Congress, or to the public, ought in prudence to be previously submitted to these ministers, in order to avoid disputes, and troublesome and humiliating explanations. If the principle be submitted to, neither dignity nor independence is left to the nation. To be troublesome and degrading, and the inevitable abuse of it could not be borne. It must, therefore, be resisted at the threshold, and its entrance forbidden into the sanctuary of domestic consultations. But, whatever may be the practice of other Governments, those of the United States are fixed. The right will never be acknowledged, and any attempt to enforce it will be repelled by the undivided energy of the nation. I pray your Excellency to observe, that my argument does not deny a right to all foreign powers of taking proper exceptions to the governmental acts and language of another. It is to their interference in its consultations, in its proceedings, while yet in an inchoate state, that we object. Should the President do an official executive act, under a foreign power, or use exceptionable language in addressing it through his minister or through theirs, should a law be passed injurious to the dignity of another nation, in all these, and other similar cases, a word of explanation would be respectfully received, and no answer to the manner that justice and a regard to the dignity of the complaining nation would require.

After stating these principles, let me add that they have not been theoretically asserted, but that they have been practically demonstrated. On two former occasions, exceptions of the same nature were taken to the President's Message by the Government of France, and in neither did they produce any other explanation than that derived from the nature of our Government, in this sense of the word, menaced them both. It passed a law in express terms, declaring to them that unless they ceased their aggressions, America would hold no intercourse with them; that their ships should be seized if they ventured into American ports; that the productions of their minister or through theirs, should a law be passed injurious to the dignity of another nation, in all these, and other similar cases, a word of explanation would be respectfully received, and no answer to the manner that justice and a regard to the dignity of the complaining nation would require.

On two former occasions, exceptions of the same nature were taken to the President's Message by the Government of France, and in neither did they produce any other explanation than that derived from the nature of our Government, in this sense of the word, menaced them both. It passed a law in express terms, declaring to them that unless they ceased their aggressions, America would hold no intercourse with them; that their ships should be seized if they ventured into American ports; that the productions of their minister or through theirs, should a law be passed injurious to the dignity of another nation, in all these, and other similar cases, a word of explanation would be respectfully received, and no answer to the manner that justice and a regard to the dignity of the complaining nation would require.

FROM ONE THOUSAND TO TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS REWARD.

WHEREAS during the eighteen months' practice of the subscriber on the Thomsonian principle, at his Infirmary, for healing the sick, in Harvard street in Boston, under the paternal care of SAMUEL THOMSON, the Father of said system—out of the twelve years' acquaintance he has had with the same, he has had several hundred cases, and under his care, of that character with which mankind are generally afflicted—the patients being of all ages, from the infant to the aged man—a great portion of whom have been cured, and generally all benefited—not one having died under his care at the Infirmary,—and whereas the foregoing facts ought of themselves alone, in all free, enquiring minds, completely to establish the superior efficacy of the botanical remedies of Doctor Samuel Thomson (now Dr. Thompson) of Concord, N. H., nor Dr. Thompson, or Mr. Newell, have ever, in any other manner, or by any other known medical system, whether the same be of ancient or modern date, even apart from a body of evidence that can be adduced from living witnesses, certificates and other documents, showing the progress and extent of this system, which is fast spreading over the United States; which facts have constrained many of the leading members of the Faculty, among whom are the venerable and scientific Doctors Waterhouse and Ingalls, to throw off the trammels of prejudice, and bear honorable testimonies in favor of this practice—

NOW, THEREFORE, the subscriber hereby proposes and offers to the government of the Massachusetts General Hospital, or to the appropriate medical authorities, established in Massachusetts, under the superintendence of the State Board of Health, and skillful physicians, to take one half of any number of patients that may apply for admission in said hospital, and remove the same to his infirmary; and he will pledge himself under a forfeiture of, from ONE TO TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS, to effect more cures in less than half the time that the faculty may consume on the other portion left in the hospital.

Should this offer be accepted, the undersigned will give satisfactory security to pay the aforesaid sum or sums of money in case he incurs the forfeiture, and shall expect the faculty to do the same.

ANDREW WATKINS, Botanic Physician.

For sale, an unadulterated vegetable medicine, prepared by Dr. Samuel Thomson himself, Family Rights, Robinson's Lectures &c. for sale.

Harvard street is opposite 409 Washington st.

It will be observed that the orthography in the names of the individuals is different, there being a p in this name, which is omitted in that of Dr. Samuel Thomson, the original inventor, and exclusive Patentee, and Father of the System.—This is not meant to preclude the public against any man—but only in justice to the Father of the Thomsonian system of medical practice. Benjamin and Jesse Thompson are merely agents of Dr. Samuel Thomson—the same as myself.]

MASSACHUSETTS BOTANIC INFIRMARY—Or, Thomsonian Hospital—for the reception of the sick and lame, situated on the bank of the Boston and Worcester Railroad, No 554 Washington st., with a view of the Railroad and surrounding country on the West, and Boston Harbour, its shipping and Islands on the East. The Rooms spacious and airy, the Prospect on the East and West very pleasant. The whole establishment will be under the personal care of Dr. J. A. Brown, formerly of the Tremont Infirmary, and for some years past Botanic Physician in the city, during which time he attended or prescribed for several thousand persons, to whom Patients can be referred for further information.

P. D. BADGER, a Proprietor, who has had considerable acquaintance with the system, will superintend the male department, together with other faithful and experienced assistants. The female department will be under the immediate superintendence of Mrs. Brown, as formerly, as-isted by Mrs. Badger; who has for a considerable time been in the Massachusetts General Hospital, and pronounced by Dr. Warren the best nurse he ever had. But from seeing the good effects of the Vegetable System in restoring a child given up to die, to my 26 years, I have had considerable experience in the Thomsonian system of practice.

The subscribers pledge themselves that nothing shall be wanting on their part to make all who may favor them with a call, both comfortable and perfectly satisfied.

The price will be the same as heretofore, to be paid in advance, with fifty per cent discount, to such as are really of value.

MAN'S GREATEST AND BEST EARTHLY TREASURE—HEALTH PRESERVED—OR LOST.

RESTORED—SEARS' AMERICAN HYGIENE VEGETABLE RENOVATING PILLS, are now offered, for the benefit of the public, by the Author, under an honest persuasion, that the certificates of their efficacy and effects; and the references and testimony respecting his own reputation and character, will secure to them public confidence. They have been the result of much research and experiment, occasioned by unusual feelings from Dyspepsia, a disease for 30 years. During a considerable part of this period, it has been to me an object of great solicitude, to discover some preparation of medicine better calculated, to relieve me of my sufferings, than any I had hitherto used. And after many experiments in Materia Medica, and among the vegetables of our country, I have succeeded in preparing a medicine, purely and entirely vegetable, which does in an eminent degree, answer that important and desirable object. Their effect is to excite and sustain a natural peristaltic action in the stomach and intestines, and to produce a discharge from them of all the morbid, mucus, and other excretions, and to remove all obstructions and promote and sustain the natural secretions of the liver. Hence they are peculiarly efficacious in removing all diseases, originating from a disordered state of the stomach and bowels; such as Indigestion, Costiveness, Bilious Colic, Nervous and Scurvy Headache, Hypochondria, Yellow and Black Jaundice, Cholera Morbus, Cutaneous Eruptions, Erysipelas, Heartburn, Sourness of Stomach, and General Debility. Their efficacy has been tried and abundantly tested by my own experience and that of many others. They may, with perfect safety, be taken by both sexes, of all ages, in cases of indigestion, &c, and they are peculiarly efficacious in removing all complaints, in offering them a speedy and certain relief.

I pledge my reputation and character, that a perfect trial of their effects will satisfy them of their superior excellency. In regard to my reputation and character, I have permission to refer to the Right Rev Bishop Onderdonk and the Rev Dr Spring, of New York; and I would also present the two following certificates from the Hon John W. Taylor, and the Hon. Judge S. Young, of Ballston Spa, whose characters are well known to the public.

"I certify that I have been well acquainted with William Sears, now of the village of Ballston Spa, for more than thirty years, and that he has always maintained a fair reputation. His character for truth and general integrity stands high. Indeed I have never heard it impeached." JOHN W. TAYLOR, Ballston Spa, Oct. 6th, 1834.

"I have known Mr. William Sears for more than thirty years, having resided most of that time in the same town with him, and during that period he has sustained a character without reproach." S. YOUNG.

Extract from a certificate of Mr. James Comstock, editor of the Ballston Spa Gazette—"For several years past Mrs. Comstock has been afflicted with an unusually obstinate Dyspepsia, attended with a great degree of acidity of the stomach, and redundancy of bile. For several months past Mrs. Comstock has been afflicted with the symptoms of a liver complaint, which have frequently been attended with a pain in my side, so severe as to confine me. About three months since I commenced taking Sears' A. H. V. Renovating Pills, which have greatly relieved me, and rendered unnecessary the use of any other medicine. I do highly esteem them, and recommend them to all who are afflicted as I have been, with a liver complaint."
